The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The preamble of the claims states that either only the apparatus or the combination of the apparatus and ladder are being claimed, while positive limitations to the ground appear to be claiming a combination with the ground. In claim 5, the positive limitation to the ladder suggests that a combination with the ladder is being claimed although the preamble of claim 1 states that only the apparatus is being claimed thus rendering the claims indefinite. Correction is required.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 3-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Fredriksen.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2,5 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fredriksen. To use a plurality of bolts to enhance the attachment of his stabilizer, and to make the length of his member less than 12 inches depending on the size of the stabilizer desired, would have been an obvious mechanical expediency. The examiner takes official notice that the use of rubber stop to provide a frictional contact is a conventional practice, and to provide a rubber stop to the distal end of the member 7, would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made in view of the conventional practice.

Claims 9-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nelson in view of Fredriksen. Nelson shows the claimed ladder with the exception of the claimed stabilizer. Fredriksen show the claimed stabilizer. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify to modify Nelson to comprise a stabilizer, as taught by Fredriksen, in lieu of his stabilizer at 19, for stabilizing his ladder. To use a plurality of bolts to enhance the attachment of the stabilizer, and to make the length of the member less than 12 inches depending on the size of the stabilizer desired, would have been an obvious mechanical expediency. The examiner takes official notice that the use of rubber stop to provide a frictional contact is a conventional practice, and to provide a rubber stop to the distal end of the member 7, would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made in view of the conventional practice.
